

Well known national home search sites like (Trulia, Zillow, Realtor, Trovit and the like) are “third” party search sites and do not display real time listing information. Often, their information is outdated. On the other hand, www.YourAnchorageAKHomeSearch.com/ - a local site linked directly into our Alaska MLS system, offers you the ability to search the entire Anchorage area listing inventory in real time. Keep in mind, this listing information is updated several times daily. This assures you of receiving the most up-to-date listing information available.

To enhance your home search to the ultimate level, let me invite you to start receiving real time, automated emails or text alerts of all new listings and all listing status changes. I guarantee, you will never receive outdated listing information and you will always be among the first to know of a new listing that may be of interest! My site is not equipped to capture your contact information; therefore, you will not receive unsolicited communications.

When time allows, give me a brief break-down of your needs and wants, rod@rodstone.com, and I will make it possible for you to receive instant, up-to-date listing alerts. Also, I invite you to further explore my web site www.YourAnchorageAKHomeSearch.com, which contains a wealth of buyer information and gives you a unique, up-to-date view of the listing inventory available in the entire Greater Anchorage area by communities and price ranges. Let me know if you need any additional information or would like to set up a time to view any property in person - I would count it a privilege to assist you further.
